Create an atmosphere of seduction with these romantic candlelights and intimate massager. Prepare a sexy surprise for your partner, and enjoy a sensual moment of heightened intimacy together.

Made of a soft material that may be pre-warmed before use, the intimate massager feels sensual and sexy against your skin, while the included candlelights add a seductive air of romance.

This intimate massager is specially shaped to arouse both of you. Five stimulating vibration modes and three perfectly placed vibrating spots are ideal for teasing and thrilling each other. Use it to seduce your partner as you touch and tease each other during foreplay. Designed so that your hand always caresses your partner's body, helping maintain close physical contact between the two of you at all times.

Set up and charging

First connect the small plug to the charger, and then put the adapter into a wall socket.

The light ring on the massager starts flashing when charging is in progress. When charging for the first time, allow a few minutes before the light ring starts flashing and charging begins. The massager will be ready for use after about 10 hours. A full charge takes 24 hours. When fully charged, the massager has an operating time of up to one hour.

To charge the candlelights, make sure they are placed in the candlelight charger. Connect the adapter to the charger, and then connect the adapter to a wall socket. The charging light will light up when charging is in progress. When charging the candlelights for the first time, allow around 12 hours to complete a full charge. This will light the candles for 24 hours.
